

New Orleans for Romantics

9am - Take a carriage ride through the French Quarter, and find yourself spouting off historical facts about New Orleans the rest of the day.

10am - Stop at Cafe du Monde for delicious beignets and cafe au lait. Then, wander through the French Market and pick up some of Aunt Sally's pralines, sure to satisfy your sweet tooth.

11am - Venture to the fascinating Voodoo Spiritual Temple. Pick up a "love drawing" sachet from the gift shop (you won't believe the stuff they sell there!), which is supposed to bring good luck to a relationship.

1pm - Hop on board the St. Charles Avenue streetcar and snuggle close while gazing out at the gorgeous houses along the avenue.

2pm - On a self-guided walking tour of the old mansions in the Garden District, pick out which ones you'd choose to live in.

5pm - At the Swizzle Stick Bar in Cafe Adelaide, toast to a great day and sip on some of the best cocktails in town.

6:30pm - Indulge in a perfectly sumptuous dinner at Muriel's Jackson Square. You'll have dreams about the seafood au gratin. Mmmm! Try their house wine.

9pm - Wander down Frenchmen Street, where music spills out from the jazz clubs. A street poet for hire will type up a few verses for you right there on his little typewriter.

- See more at: <http://www.louisianatravel.com/three-new-orleans-itineraries#sthash.gpARpiXK.dpuf>